

Bay of Quinte Division.
The above Legislative Council Electoral Division comprises the County of Quinte.

Howard, and the South Riding of Angus, and has to come to the Canadian House of Lords, next September, 1892.

"If that is the way you feel about it, I am afraid, we could say it was out of pure kindness. Somebody has been stirring up a lot of trouble about the Grand importance of having a candidate, and apparently the public say no heed to the Grand importance of having a candidate, and therefore, we put in a helping hand.

Elector, attention! you have just seven days to select a Candidate, who when elected will represent the South Riding of Angus Council of the Province of Canada, for eight years, where he will be scarcely known to the people, and the only small Members of the Lower House; and is entitled to a Grand sum of hundred dollars per year, pro rata for the term of Parliament continues over thirty days.

Now, for our part, we have no preference as to the name of the coming candidate; but we wish to give a hint to the electors; we have a notice to give along to the canvass—If you want for the public to bring you out, and so that you may be elected, the election day is near, then, if you have not roots or relations, or belong to some order or society, you can effectively upon short notice, your prospect will be destroyed in any convention you may go into.

As far as the politics is concerned, you may be a Conservative or a Liberal, or the old traditions among the people of Winkles—and everything else that will interest the public, and afford you matter for conversation for the next three months. The first thing, however, to do, is to get your Real Estate valued—as eight thousand dollars is the first qualification required for a Legislative Councillor.

At the last general election we suggested the propriety of all persons that public opinion pointed out as candidates, coming forward and let the electors judge of the fitness and abilities of the candidates. The Convention does not give a correct idea of the public mind, but is the mere expression of a few active politicians or interested friends or relations.

There is no doubt that Conventions destroyed the party of the Hon. George Brown; because there are always a certain number of men who have political pretensions, who may be set aside by Conventions, that would be strong among the people. But furthermore, Conventions, when well organized, give disappointed parties a strength outside the Legislature which at times may be dangerous to the State. The great Convention which assembled in Toronto to do whatever the temper of the people might suggest, was only a slight move in the same direction which has produced the terrible revolution over the border.

We have a day of nomination, and there and then let the selection of candidates be made. In the mean time, let those who wish to be candidates, and let others who

Remember, that it is the people of the County of Prince Edward and the people of the South Riding of Hastings who are to work together in selecting the Legislative Council for the Bay of Quinte Division. The difficulty is, that sectional preferences may be brought up, which will undoubtedly make the election a mere accident. However, such things must be left to the good sense of the people; and will no doubt, if the people of both sections are determined to select the man best fitted for the place, EDDYSTONE LIGHTHOUSE.—The Eddystone Lighthouse has now withstood the storms of a century—a solid monument to the genius of its architect and builder.—Sometimes, when the sea rolls in with more than ordinary fury from the Atlantic, driven up the Channel by the force of a south-west wind, the lighthouse is enveloped in spray and its light is momentarily obscured. But again it is seen shining clear like a star across the waters, a warning and a guide to the homeward bound. Occasionally, when struck by a strong westerly, central portion shoots up the perpendicular shaft and leaps quite over the lantern. At other times, a tremendous wave hurls itself upon the lighthouse, as if to force it from its foundation. The report of the shock to one within is like that of a cannon; the windows rattle, the doors slam, and the building vibrates and trembles to its very base. But the tremor felt throughout the lighthouse in such a way, instead of being a sign of weakness, is the strongest proof of the unity and close connection of the fabric in all its parts.—Lives of the Engineers.

lydlike to be always ailing has gone by—Good health fortunately, is the fashion. A rosy cheek is no longer considered "vulgar," and a stately allowance of flesh, on the bones is considered the "style." Perhaps the great secret that god looks cannot exist without good health, may have had something to do with this care now taken to obtain it; whether this be so or not, future generations are the gainers all the time. A languid eye and a waxy blood-less complexion, may be logging now for its admiration. The "elegant steeple" in the shoulders, formerly considered so aristocratic, has also unceremoniously disappeared.—

CHARGING A JURY.

If the jury believe from the evidence that the plaintiff and defendant were partners in the grocery, and the plaintiff bought out the defendant, and gave his note for the interest and the defendant paid for the note by delivering to the plaintiff a cow, which he warranted "not breachy," and the warranty was broken by reason of the breachiness of the cow, and he drove the cow back, tendered her to the defendant, but the defendant refused to receive her, the plaintiff took her home again and put a heavy yoke upon her to prevent her from jumping the fence, and by reason of the yoke or peke broke her neck and died; and if the jury further believe that the defendant's interest in the grocery was not worth anything, the plaintiff's note was worthless, and this cow good for nothing, either for milk or beef, then the jury must find out themselves how they must decide the case; for the court, if it understands itself, and if it thinks it does, don't know how such a case should be decided.
